

Dear Eliana,

The communications that you send always remind me of our time there on Rishi, how things have changed since then I could have never foreseen it. I hope this communication reaches you and that you are doing well. As you have no doubt heard, We have had our hands full here with the Children of Mortis. It seems the final reckoning is coming, The Gate is complete and tomorrow the Dark Jedi Brotherhood will be making their push into the Children of Mortis domain. This will be the first true test of my apprentice Jinx. She has come far since I found her on Endor, I fear though that I have not prepared her enough for this assault but I have no choice because this is our last chance to stop Children of Mortis and everyone is needed.

I sit here writing this communication somewhat disturbed from visions in the force, I can't foresee the outcome of this assault and it worries me, We may lose many lives over the next few weeks but I will do all everything within my power to save as many as I can, I cannot let the Brotherhood fall to the enemy. We are the last line of defense for the galaxy at large.

I know it has been a while since I have been back there with our son to visit you but he is doing well and his power is growing more and more every day. You would be proud of the young man he is becoming. After this battle we will have to make it a priority to return to see you again.

Love-
Quentin
