

Conversion Energy Bow

Fictional universe: Kid Icarus (Pit's Bow)

Item Category: Special Blaster

Proposed Rarity: Epic

The Conversion Energy Bow is a ranged bow weapon, with the bow-strings and arrows made of pure plasma and a handgrip that has an interlocking mechanism. When connected, it behaves like a standard energy bow. When separated, it splits into two blades that can be used as melee weapons requiring proficiency with Dual-Wielding. The bow has been crafted with golden chromium that gives it an elegant appearance but also helps prevent external damage. The grip is also designed so that, when it's not connected, the plasma deactivates and does not harm the user.

