

Well, word has been buzzing around the galaxy like a hyperactive mynock, and the rumor mill's grist is none other than our very own Supreme Chancellor. You're not going to believe this, but sources from the Smuggler's Moon of Nar Shaddaa have spied our venerable Chancellor knee-deep in the most unlikely of pursuits: professional Wookiee hairdressing!

Yes, my friends, our Chancellor's hush-hush contact isn't some sinister Hutt Lord or an exotic spice dealer but a cadre of high-maintenance Wookiees seeking the latest Kashyyyk hair trends. It's been whispered that our fearless leader has developed a previously unappreciated talent for braiding, trimming, and grooming the shaggy coats of these towering furballs. Some even say she is doing it not for the credits but for pure artistic pleasure!

And it's not just any old trim or snip-snip job we're discussing here. Oh no. We're hearing about epic hair designs, with complex braids and tufts teased into the shapes of famous Galactic landmarks: the spires of Coruscant, the twin suns of Tatooine, even the Kessel Run—in less than twelve parsecs!

The cherry on top? The Wookiees are going gaga for these hairy masterpieces, and our Chancellor is quickly becoming the talk of the town. Some claim they've even spotted a few fur-faced fans wandering around Nar Shaddaa sporting unmistakable miniature renditions of our Republic's emblem on their hairy heads!

So next time you see our Chancellor, don't be too surprised if she's carrying a comb and a pair of shears. Just remember, if you're thinking about a new haircut... you should check with the Wookiees for the latest trends first!
