

Name: Aveline Solborne

Species: Human

Homeworld: Corellia

Birth: 7 ABY

Handedness: Ambidextrous

Height: 1.65 Meters

Weight: 60.1 Kilograms

Physical Description: Aveline has an athletic build and is well conditioned. An average height for a human at 1.65 meters. Her olive skin is flawless from her easy early life in a Jedi Enclave and attention paid to prevent scarring with any new injuries. She wears her straight dark brown hair to her mid back, often loose but in some elaborate braid when she has prepared for combat. Her narrow face has full lips with long dark lashes around her bright hazel eyes.

Preferred Weapons (basic & non-specialized): Lightsaber, blue

Rank: Dark Jedi Knight

Order: Sith

Discipline: Juggernaut

Role: Dark Side Conversion, Recruitment

General Aspects

- The Cat's Meow - Drawing the genetic long straw, she is both incredibly intelligent with a sharp mind, and beautiful. She truly is as special and amazing as any human could be. Despite being raised as a Jedi from birth, she still often got favorable treatment due to her beauty and mind, yet it has made her come to expect it. Often finding conflict with those who don't value human beauty or a sharp mind.
- Has it Her Way - Obsessed with getting her way, she is constantly finding ways to get it. Growing up having everything handed to her, and getting what she wants, she has grown afraid of the perceived consequences of not getting it. In times where she finds failure, or a closed door, she can become upset and act irrationally as she will do anything to get it.

Personality Aspects

- Mask of Superiority - She has an air of superiority which follows her everywhere, outwardly acting egotistical and superior. This comes with an incredible amount of pride which can inspire others, yet hates feeling vulnerable and hides her secret imperfections that may open her to criticism. As such she constantly criticizes and puts others down to draw attention away from herself.
- Reek-headed - She is incredibly stubborn, she pushes until she gets what she wants, and is seen as someone who never gives up. This has helped her gain what she wants in life. However, it can get her in trouble when she pushes too hard or is stubborn on the small things and can annoy many different people, especially those who also have a stubborn streak.

Combat Aspects

- Duelist - Trained with a lightsaber as soon as she was of age, it has become a part of who she was as a Jedi. It was a powerful tool and a symbol status. Her ability to read others and understand what to expect and keen attention to detail allows, and applying all she has learned allows her to overcome her opponents. A style of combat attuned to the missions she had as a Padawan learner, she quickly becomes overwhelmed in large combat engagements with multiple enemies.

- Never Back Down - Although she can read her enemies incredibly well, and knows the odds, as long as there are some points in her favor she will press on relentlessly. This can inspire those around her and give frustration to an enemy allowing her opportunity to find unexpected victories. However, she may hold on longer than she should and many under her command will die not taking the appropriate window of retreat.

Skills:

- Proficient (+3): Intellect, Diplomacy
- Trained (+2): Primary Lightsaber Form, Athletics, Endurance, Manipulation, Intimidation
- Learned (+1): Lore, Resolve, Survival, Might, Perception, Investigation, Empathy

Force Powers:

- Disciple (+3): Sense, Precognition
- Studied (+2): Sight, Farsight, Amplification, Mind Trick, Rage
- Initiate (+1): Telekinesis, Control Self, Telepathy, Barrier, Deflection, Illusion, Healing

Primary Lightsaber Form: Ataru

Lore: History and cultural traditions of the Jedi

Feats:

- The Cat's Purr - Due to her ability to calm herself with the Force from her training as a Jedi, and her appearance and intellect, is seen as incredibly trustworthy by others. She gains one skill level to Diplomacy when dealing with others, two levels when dealing with those weak of mind.
- Socialite - Due to her being part of a clan and culture of the Jedi, has always been surrounded by others. This has given her a sharp tongue and quick wit, able to read others very quickly and say things that they like. She gains one skill level to Intellect when it comes to remembering people and details.

== Biography ==

Taken directly at birth, and raised by the Jedi at one of their Jedi Enclaves as part of a clan. Learning rational thought and patience. A model Jedi as a child. At age 13, was taken as a Padawan. Despite her promising future, the master she was assigned failed to help her reach her true potential as a Jedi.

Her Master's ego was fueled by being assigned such a promising Padawan. Constantly giving her praise and admiration at every moment, eventually becoming obsessed with her. This continued for six straight years during a period of key development in her life, leading up to her Trials of Knighthood. When she finally underwent the trials, she was failed in the Trial of Spirit due to her pride and unwillingness to let go and deal with her inner fears and failures, despite great success elsewhere. Her fear of failure was well known by the Jedi Masters, and as such they chose to fail her as almost a trial in itself.

She was devastated at her failure, convinced she was a Jedi prodigy and destined to be more powerful than any of the Jedi Masters. Her master was in a state of disbelief, taking the failure as a reflection of his own tutelage and began a campaign claiming a mistrial. Feeling that she was better than not only her Master, but all of the Jedi Masters who knew nothing of true power, she chose to leave the Jedi Order and seek training on her own instead of fighting the results.

Fleeing to the Core Worlds to find her next steps, she was immediately chased by her former Master still unwilling to accept his failure. Having taken nothing with her given the nature of her Jedi training, and with limited skills for employment, she took on a role of security for a major corporation. This gave her what she needed to start her search for more people in that galaxy who could help her reach her true potential.

Eventually her Master caught up with her, angry that he sought her out, she struck out and killed him in a moment of passion. Slowly giving in to the lust of the Dark Side, but without proper guidance, she grew more erratic. It would be several more months of fighting and murders of those who dare criticize her before envoys of the Dark Jedi Brotherhood would find her.

Immediately seizing the opportunity to join given all the Brotherhood had to offer, she quickly found herself in the Shadow Academy. Surrounded by knowledge and teachers who could guide her, she quickly found herself seeing the place as home. Given her background and resentment of the Jedi, she dedicated herself to skills and powers necessary for conversion and recruitment of former Jedi trying to save them from the life they tried to seal them. To free them of their chains.

She has taken to her role well, growing in power and knowledge and quickly attaining the rank of Dark Jedi Knight, finally completing a set of trials to give her the satisfaction and power she desires. Working now directly with the Dark Council as a special assignment given her unique background to help convert Jedi across the galaxy to the Dark Side to join the Dark Jedi Brotherhood's cause.