GREAT JEDI WAR XI MULTIMEDIA

STAR WARS CRAWL

Play Music: Main SW Theme

Dark Jedi Brotherhood
The Civil War

The way of the Sith has always been a winding path of violence and death, all in the name of achieving power.

The ultimate goal for all Sith has been to overcome death, the last enemy to be defeated.

Over 5000 years ago one Sith Lord achieved immortality at a terrible cost. His ritual destroyed a world, and all life on it

Now, millennia later, another seeks this same rite. Enemies at the gate and former allies on his heels, death would once again pay for life.

INTRODUCTION

Play music: <Lux Aeterna>

Faded to black, maybe stars since it's the end of a crawl. Show a title screen that says "Great Jedi War XI".

Then begin to show scenes of death. Burning Starships. Ancient sith tombs on fire. Highlighting the impacts of the GJW. These show as the NARRATOR talks.

NARRATOR: The same passion for power that fueled the leaders of the Dark Jedi Brotherhood in their pursuit of power, now threatened to destroy them all. A war that lasted for years known as the Dark Crusades would wear them down as betrayals would form cracks that would slowly split the entire unified Brotherhood into different paths. Three Grand Masters faced off, each with their own agendas in the Valley of the Sith Lords on the planet of Korriban. This is the story of the three fractured sides of a Dark Jedi of the Brotherhood caught up in a war, a Great Jedi War that would change the Dark Jedi Brotherhood forever.

LOYALISTS

Play music: Battle of Heroes: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ST1t2mBkykA>

First fade to a black screen, maybe the same one with stars from earlier that just says. “The Loyalists”.

Then begin to show scenes of the Temple of Tiamat, Antei, Grand Master Ashen, some Rite of Immortality Emperor stuff. Loyalist themed images. These show as the NARRATOR talks.

- Image (Muz): <https://wiki.darkjedibrotherhood.com/images/2/29/Muz36aby.jpg>
- Image (Antei): <https://wiki.darkjedibrotherhood.com/images/d/d4/Antei.jpg>
- Image (Sith Emperor): http://img1.wikia.nocookie.net/\_\_cb20100219214313/starwars/images/0/07/Sith\_Emperor.JPG
- Image (Iron Throne): <https://wiki.darkjedibrotherhood.com/images/4/49/IronThrone.jpg>

NARRATOR: One month after the final days of the Dark Crusades, Krath High Priest Nagaer took the unholy collection of relics the Dark Jedi Brotherhood had collected from the Sith Worlds for Grand Master Ashen to the Temple Tiamat on Antei, to uncover the lost secrets of the Sith Emperor’s Rite of Immortality. Intent on performing the rite, and unifying the Houses and Clans to create a stronger Brotherhood. The Grand Master would call on the Houses and Clans to follow him, and those that did would form the Loyalists.

Next, fade to an anonymous person with a name plate news style that reads "Sergeant Micki Orainn, Arcona Expeditionary Forces"

- Image: <http://www.mattgroff.com/wp-content/uploads/2011/02/Picture-38.png>

MICKI ORAINN: I was part of Division X, onboard the Nebula-class Invicta. From the beginning it was very need to know, and I didn't need to know. That wouldn't last long.

NARRATOR: Clan Arcona wasn't the first Clan that the Grand Master had called for in time of need, but when they heard the details and the involvement of Taldryan, they were the first to respond.

MICKI ORAINN: We all knew immediately after we arrived where we were, Antei. We'd been there before countless times. None of us knew if ground troops would be deployed, there was just so much confusion. I ended up fully suited up anyways and ready for a drop. At first the ship was pretty stable, but as the combat outside intensified and more hostile ships arrived, we started getting rocked.

NARRATOR: Joining the Antei Defense Fleet, the Arconan Fleet would arrive to challenge the Taldryan fleet who assembled with former Grand Master Jac Cotelin. Almost too late to stop Grand Master Ashen, they hastily jumped towards Antei to face him. They hadn't expected that he already had allies. The ships that arrived mid-battle were those of Esoteric, a mysterious One Sith who the Dark Jedi Brotherhood had battled for years. They would turn the battle against the rapidly forming Loyalists.

MICKI ORAINN: Eventually our ships fell back into defensive positions, away from Antei, we were losing the battle. Chatter among the men intensified due to a pending drop as the planet opened to a ground assault. All of us were ready to go. Shortly after we entered hyperspace. We abandoned the battle. Rumors immediately spread of more enemy ships that arrived to put the finishing touches on our fleet and kill us all. Others discussed a weapon was fired at Antei that wiped all life from the planet in a wave that would soon consume us as well.

NARRATOR: Grand Master Ashen would enact the Rite of Immortality on Antei. The Final Way had begun. It was only a test of what would come. It meant no turning back for the Loyalists on their path to unify the Brotherhood that was falling apart more with each passing moment. They would find additional allies in both Naga Sadow and Tarentum moving into the start of the war.

MICKI ORAINN: I can't say I knew exactly what was going on personally. Things were tense though. Even for a group so used to conflict, it seemed to have this different feel when we were firing on those who were on our own side. I had fought along side many soldiers from the other Clans and Houses during the Dark Crusades. Now they were being called Traitors and Rebels. None of it made sense. I'm a soldier though, and I would follow orders. I trusted the Arconans to keep me on the right path.

REBELS

Play music: Duel of Fates <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qzVBqBosf5w>

First fade to a black screen, the exact same one from the Loyalists above, just simply saying. "The Rebels"

Then begin to show scenes of Jac, Star Chamber, and the Elders of Taldryan, showing the Scholae Palatinae themed stuff, Jedi of Odan-Urr. These show as the NARRATOR talks.

- Image (Jac): <https://wiki.darkjedibrotherhood.com/images/b/b3/Jac.jpg>
- Image (Sith): http://img1.wikia.nocookie.net/\_\_cb20121119200948/starwars/images/3/30/SithWarriors-Deceived.png
- Image (Odan Urr): <https://wiki.darkjedibrotherhood.com/images/a/a7/OdanUrr.png>
- Image (CSD Justice): <https://wiki.darkjedibrotherhood.com/images/0/01/Talcotelinclass.jpg>

NARRATOR: Immediately following Fading Light, at the conclusion of the Dark Crusade, Lord Marshall Damon Nix discovered that artifacts collected during the campaign had gone missing. With use of the Nephilim, he had connected the missing trinkets and the apparent death of the Deputy Grand Master Darth Pravus. It would lead Nix to the Krath Temple, where he would discover from the Krath High Priest Nagaer of Grand Master Ashen's plans to enact the Rite of Immortality. A treasonous act by decree of the Star Chamber. After informing former Grand Master Jac Cotelin and a group of assembled Taldryan Elders, Jac would be at the head of the effort to ensure the Brotherhood remained in the rightful control of the Star Chamber, calling on the loyal Clans and Houses to aid his efforts, forming the Rebels.

Next, fade to an anonymous person with a name plate news style that reads "Lieutenant Joshua Asto, Taldryan Expansionary Force"

- Image: <http://i.ytimg.com/vi/F7EioQWUKLk/maxresdefault.jpg>

JOSHUA ASTO: I was an officer, a navigator, aboard the CSD Justice. We were always ready for battle at a moments notice, with years of training and experience that day was no different than any other. We learned to trust the Dark Jedi. They were never wrong.

NARRATOR: Clan Taldryan was not the first to put the wheels in motion against to Grand Master Ashen's plans, but they were the first to act on it. The Elders gathered when Nix shared the news with Jac were quick in their own reactions. The remaining members of the Star Chamber had declared, that the rite must be stopped, and ensured that all the Clans would be informed of this fact. Consul of Taldryan, Rian Taldrya, followed suit by handing over their fleet to Jac to lead their Clan towards this end.

JOSHUA ASTO: I guess I'll say, they were never wrong, but, they were also never quite so angry. Except the gruff one with the beard. None of us had the Force, but we knew this would be different, we felt it. Immediately we set off for Antei, joined by the ships that accompanied the Justicar and Voice to the meeting. We all expected more posturing and arguments. But we'd all soon realize it had escalated far beyond that as soon as the Arconan fleet arrived to stop us.

NARRATOR: The Taldryan Fleet was in attack formation, ready to take Antei and stop Grand Master Ashen, yet the Arconan Fleet would arrive in time to stop their cause. It was the first direct attack from one Clan to another, as Muz and Jac pushed their influence to rally whoever they could to their cause. Their flagship, Justice, would take the brunt of the assault. Though their cause was just, their decision to attack without rallying their own allies first had been costly, whereas Muz had already assembled his. They were quickly losing the battle.

JOSHUA ASTO: There we fires, alarms, flashes of light, droids, every imaginable distraction possible on the bridge. The flagship hadn't sustained that much damage through the entire Dark Crusade. It concerned quite a few of us, myself included. We'd get some help of our own though, when unidentified ships showed up and began to join us in our assault.. Finally, it seemed to me like we were winning, when I would receive an emergency signal from our new friends with attached coordinates to follow. I'm always hesitate to trust foreign data, so I ran a sanity check much to the dismay of those around me. Their insistence on running from the fight so quickly seemed odd at first. Until some weapon went off on Antei.

NARRATOR: One Sith forces would arrive above Antei to aide the Taldryan fleet. They would push both the Antei and Arconan fleets into defensive positions away from the planet. Yet the Rite of Immortality would be enacted on Antei, and the Force would tear itself apart starting there and heading into space. It would take a large portion of the Taldryan fleet before Justice would escape to the new coordinates. What they would find there would be no friends of their Rebel cause and that of the Star Chamber, though they would find friends themselves in House Scholae Palatinae, the the Jedi of House Odan-Urr.

JOSHUA ASTO: I'd never seen anything like it. That weapon that went off on Antei. I don't know what power games were being played by the Dark Jedi, but, it was tense. For the most part they stuck to themselves and were relatively unpreent but, there they all were. Our leaders were being called liars, traitors, that they betrayed the Brotherhood. For all my years of service I just couldn't believe it. Something was amiss. I knew I was on the right side, I just, couldn't believe some of the people I met on the Dark Crusade from Arcona no longer were. It truly felt like I was betrayed by my own family.

NEW ORDER

Play music: Imperial Theme: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-bzWSJG93P8>

First fade to a black screen, the exact same one from the Rebels above, just simply saying. "The New Order"

Then begin to show scenes of Imperial Stuff, One Sith, Esoteric if that's possible. These show as the NARRATOR talks.

- Image (Krayt):
http://img3.wikia.nocookie.net/\_\_cb20110201155613/starwars/images/b/b3/KraytHS-LW2.jpg

- Image (Korriban):

NARRATOR: Months before even the Dark Crusade started, Sith Lord Esoteric began to see his One Sith forces slowly destroyed on planet after planet by the Dark Jedi Brotherhood. Attacks that would continue with Fading Light delivering further blows. Yet though all this had managed to assassinate Dark Councilors, and gain the support of the Master at Arms and Headmaster on the Dark Council at the time. Although the One Sith had lost nearly all their holding of planets, their fleet remained strong, and they still held positions on Korriban. By their right, control of the Brotherhood was theirs to take, and the New Order would do whatever it took to take what was rightfully theirs.

Next, fade to an anonymous person with a name plate news style that reads "Lieutenant Tirc Holgor, One Sith Expeditionary Force"

- Image: <http://i.ytimg.com/vi/BJSTdR2lkhc/maxresdefault.jpg>

TIRIC HOLGOR: I was a pilot flying a TIE Advanced in Python squadron, aboard the Impstar Deuce Vanguard for the One Sith. Or as some came to call us, the New Order. I didn't see much action during the Dark Crusades, but I heard so much about it as a pilot. All that was the ground forces. I was mostly in training missions, preparing for a battle that was rumored to come any day.

NARRATOR: One Sith ground forces had given up planet after planet during the Dark Crusades across the Sith Worlds. Their last holding was on Korriban when the war came knocking at their door. Their fleet had been spotted before, but none truly knew how numerous or powerful they were. Their time had come.

TIRIC HOLGOR: When we were called to action, I thought it was just another training mission. It had been so long. But me and my fellow pilots were ready. When we dropped from hyperspace at Antei, reality quickly came that this was real. My squadron wasn't launched in that first assault as our fleet came to the aid of one side assaulting the planet. We were there to make new friends. It was going well.

NARRATOR: After hearing of the battle at Antei, the One Sith quickly jumped into action. They hadn't expected Jac Cotelin to act so quickly at the news of the rite, and intended to make him an ally. He was more useful to them alive. When they arrived the Taldryan fleet was badly damaged under assault from a combined Antei and Arconan assault. They quickly oriented themselves to protect Jac and his fleet, and ensure their survival. An important piece of their plan to take the Brotherhood as their own.

TIRIC HOLGOR: Although we were pushing back the defending fleets, our commanders kept telling us to stay prepared. It seemed overly cautious, but we were trained to be ready, and if I got a chance to fly I wanted to take it. When a message went out that we were going to be jumping to hyperspace shortly I was very confused. We were winning. I heard later that a massive dark side weapon was detonated on Antei that stripped the whole planet of life. How can anyone stand up against that type of power? It certainly couldn't remain in the wrong hands.

NARRATOR: The One Sith knew that Grand Master Ashen held the necessary tools to enact the Rite of Immortality on Antei, so they were ready when he did. Esoteric had foreseen it and had his ships ready for the jump. Still, all had hoped it wouldn't come to pass. Yet it was only a test, to start the Loyalists on their path to the Final Way. It had Jac Cotelin forming a group to stop it. The One Sith still wanted what they always wanted, to take what was rightfully theirs, the rite included.

TIRIC HOLGOR: We would jump to one of the many training ground coordinates. Our ships easily outnumbered those of the damaged Taldryan fleet still licking their wounds. Talk among the men quickly escalated of old Sith powers, of corruption, of immense power. All of these things embodied our leader Esoteric. We knew he was more powerful than everyone else, we believed it. One of the Clans of the Brotherhood could see the light as I began training missions with Plagueis pilots. A good lot. The whole Brotherhood seemed to be falling apart from within, and the One Sith were out to pick up the pieces.

CONCLUSION

Play music: Revans Theme

Fade to black screen and bring up images of destruction and fire and death set to some type of ominous music.

NARRATOR: There was not a single person in the Dark Jedi Brotherhood who wasn't affected by this war. The fragile ties that bound them together had been broken in a war of chaos. Those that survived were left with the weight of the dead, and the memories of the nightmare that changed the Brotherhood forever.
