Alara spends most of her time in the forest when she is not at the Clan's location. She has made many forest friends, and enjoys spending time with them. She likes to keep her combat skills pristine, and trains frequently. She also likes to study hard in the Shadow Academy, and write her days within her journal. Alara is a serious student and Neophyte, and likes to keep her priorities in check. She enjoys the occasional scavenging trip as well. Alara has very high skill when dealing with animals. Once she became an Acolyte, she was gifted a baby male Ruping which she named Forren. Alara currently serves the Dark Jedi Brotherhood as an Acolyte. She has obtained the Dark Cross award. She also holds the title as Sergeant for House Excidium's new battleteam under Shadow Nighthunter.

They say that injustice treats the skin poorly, but it is not so for Alara. Her chiseled, pale face holds not only beauty, but sternness. The rage inside her heart continuously flickers in her fiery, enlightened amber eyes. She stand at 5 foot 10, but intimidates all she passes by. Her muscular figure and air of confidence gives her further height. When trying to keep focused, she usually wears her long, dirty blonde hair in a braid. When angry, and when in Dark Force combat, she has her long waves down by her waist. As half-sephi like her sister, Alara's pointed ears stick through her locks. Her muscular, athletic frame maintains feminine proportions that have been honed for survival rather than for "show". She sticks to wearing neutral colors to better blend in with her environment. She is most commonly found wearing combat boots, a tighter jumpsuit, and a cloak.
