

Artifact Name: The Lifedrinker

Assumed Location: Jundland Wastes, Tatooine

Type: Lightsaber crystal

Artifact's Estimated Age: 6,500 years old

Danger level: 9

Physical Description: A small red crystal approximately six centimeters long and three centimeters wide.

Description of Ability: Created through Sith alchemical practices by a Human Sith Lord named Bordas Khan six thousand five hundred years ago the crystal, once installed into a lightsaber, gave Khan the ability to absorb the "life force" of anyone he struck down with the blade. This absorption enabled Khan to extend his life well beyond that of a normal Human. This long life came at a cost however as every single life he took had an effect on the Sith Lord's sanity slowly driving him insane. Khan was last seen gibbering madly to himself as he headed off into the scorching deserts of the Jundland Wastes.