

FRAMLANDE

Notes

Alien group

The FRAMLANDE seems to be an organisation of individuals, of varying influence (though all seem to have significant power in their circles), all of whom seem to share a common philosophy. As our recon thus far has been minimal, careful management of this information is advised. Agents are working on giving us more information, but as of yet, this is all the information we have on the FRAMLANDE.

- Molator, Agent's Watch division

Careful hunting

Little is known about these people. We don't know their specific ages, nor their real names. Some of them, we don't know their species. Most of this information has been gained through observation of HoloNet traffic, and whilst it doesn't seem too much of a problem, we have agents attempting recon of each of these people. The information could be false, or sabotaged. Care is advised, though they do not seem hostile, currently. If they were to turn their influence against us, we could be facing trouble.

- M'onnok, Agent's Watch division
