

Character: Blade Ta'var

Aspect: Not Your Average Zeltron

What happens to a Zeltron raised by Humans? They come out somewhere in-between. A Zeltron at heart she can be very playful and passionate, but this is tempered by her cultural upbringing as a Human and more importantly as a Warrior (Father) and Spy (Mother). Discipline isn't very common for a Zeltron but she is determined to eliminate her weaknesses and improve her abilities. You can't always have fun. This was drilled into her and continues to be a part of her life. Her fellow Zeltrons find this odd and as such she can be a bit of an oddball on Zeltros. The rest of the universe still views her as hedonistic, causing non-Zeltrons to group her with the rest of her kind. The Zeltrons would disagree but thankfully they know how to deal with the odd one out in a party.