

Torn Between The Lines

{{Member}} is the embodiment of conflict. Roiling full of emotions, {{gender,his,her}} inner fight between right or wrong, the light and the dark creates a thin balance that makes him an easy target to be pushed one way or the other, given one gets to know the right shatterpoint. However, while {{member}} strives to leave the experiences and emotions that made {{gender,him,her}} who {{gender,he,she}} is today behind, {{member}} will always be able to channel these experiences and emotions to further {{gender,his,her}} own power.

Example how this aspect would look like on a member's character sheet:

Rian Taldrya is the embodiment of conflict. Roiling full of emotions, his inner fight between right or wrong, the light and the dark creates a thin balance that makes him an easy target to be pushed one way or the other, given one gets to know the right shatterpoint. However, while Rian Taldrya strives to leave the experiences and emotions that made him who he is today behind, Rian Taldrya will always be able to channel these experiences and emotions to further his own power.

~Rian Taldrya