

The Vatali Royal Guard

INSERT SOME RANDOM LOGO YOU DECIDE TO BE THE SEAL

The Vatali Royal Guard, or simply the Royal Guard, are a force of bodyguards for the Emperor/Empress of the Vatali Empire. It is made up of approximately one-thousand five hundred elite soldiers that act outside of the normal military, but can take up command in either the limited ground forces or the Navy. While only a small number of them have the honor of being the select few that guard the Emperor/Empress, they're all under their direct control.

Qualification and Training

To qualify to be considered for the intense training that is required to join the Royal Guard a potential recruit must either be an Ensign in the Navy or a Second-Lieutenant in the ground forces. After that they must meet other classified requirements based on what the guard needs at that point in time. The training consists of three years of all the necessary flight schools to pilot the airships, the Empire's starfighters, and every bridge position on a capital ship. After that there is another five years of tactics and leadership, in both Naval and ground scenarios, and then a month long "wargame" where everything you've learned it put to test. The few that stay and pass are considered elite warriors and are welcomed into the Royal Guard.

Rank Structure

Colonel

Commander

Captain

Lieutenant

Sub-Lieutenant

Uniform

The uniform of the Royal Guard isn't as ornate as one would expect. It consists of a teal and purple body suit with a circlet, "breastplate", pauldrons, vambraces, greaves, and a "fauld" with an armorweave skirt thingymagiger. The circlet, breastplate, pauldrons, vambraces, greaves, and fauld are made of thin durasteel and plated with an electrum coating.

