

Aftermath: Week 3, Poetry 3 (Haiku)

Please see below for three haiku which address the writing prompt. Each haiku is an answer to the prompt in its own right, with the titles of the three haiku acting as an overarching response to all of the questions within the prompt.

Immortality

A man he was not.
He was without soul or past.
He is. Forever.

Inaction is the answer

They knew. But act? No.
One does not dig one's own grave.
One remains silent.

Morale? Not in death

Strength cometh from bonds.
But bonds, as glass, do oft break.
Together we die.
