

Week Five of Alaris' Fiction Series – Isolation Poem

No one ever talks about the cost,
we have cradled in our Power.
But now since everything is lost,
Our Clan now faces its darkest hour.

We have sworn to protect the Throne,
Their treason wont go unnoticed
They might have left us on our own, but our minds remain focused.

To righten the thing we stand up,
and at no odds we will stop.
Ending the reign of the Corrupt,
Taldryan once more will come out on top.

After all we are the Brotherhood within a Brotherhood, we unite the Light, the Gray and the Dark for the bigger good.

~Rian