

Headshot	Teckil “Teddy” Lenleck Corsair, Equite, Unaffiliated Dark Side Path, Merc, Hunter Ewok Male, right-handed Height: 1.25m, Weight: 80kgs	Saber
Physical Description		Preferred Weapons
Teckil was slightly taller than average height, with a thin build for a ewok. His greyish brown fur hints at his age but it’s the scars on his left side of his body that stand out the most. Being a young ewok living in a village far from the fighting of the Battle of Endor it was the impact of falling Death Star debris that not only left him injured and disfigured, but his mind was twisted watching his village and his family destroyed by the raining firing. Teckil wears a half leather mask that covers his disfigured face and his blinded eye along with a modified ewokian hunting outfit. This leather and skin outfit almost covers his hairless left side to protect his skin and provide the warmth his natural fur would have provided.		A set of tribal weapons: hunting Knife, Harchet, a bow and a shortsword. Along with a more modern Engery bow and a Merr-Sonn Q2 Holdout Blaster.
General Aspects
The secret of the ooze When he was found by a rebel patrol sent to put out the forest fires he was found lying near a highly radioactive piece of equipment. This not only cause a lot of his hair to fall out but it mutated his body to allow him the use of more modern weapons but also his mind to the point where he now could not only understand basic but speak a broken form of it as well. Unfortunately these mutations and the mental trauma he's suffered occasionally causes him physical pain and mental anguish as he struggles with what has happened to him and why he is still alive.	Small enough not to be noticed Due to his small stature and the fact he is an ewok most people do not pay attention to Teckil at all. This underestimation allows him to move more freely and get into places he should never be allowed to be making it easier to sneak up on his targets. If he is noticed especially in a public square he instantly becomes the center of attention. Ewoks are not know the be seen off Endor and due to his injuries he is hit with a wave of sympathy and well wishers that it is almost impossible to get away without pulling a weapon.
Personality Aspects
A spider in wait Ever since he was “rescued” he lived with the crew of the medical ship he recovered on. Using his newly earned intelligence he learned all he could from the crew by befriending them. He learned of the Empire and the rebels and what really happened to his world. He has a habit of learning all he can from his “caretakers” then murdering them and then allowing himself to be rescued again and repeating	Murder “Teddy” Bear Teckil has learned to use he deformities to earn the trust and occasionally the pity of his soon to be victims. Using this allows his victims to lower their guard and in many cases let him get closer they he really should be. He likes to wait till he earns the complete trust of his victims before killing them in their sleep or otherwise unprepared.

the process. Learning then taking his revenge for what they did to him. He currently is the ship “mascot” in the INQ fleet.	His ultimate goal to to get revenge on every rebel/imperial soldier he can find, but he relishes in the rare occasion he is presented with the opportunity to exact revenge on his true enemy and that is any force user he comes in contact with. It’s safe to say if he can link you to the destruction of Endor he will try and murder you. His ultimate satisfaction is to stare into his victim's eyes as he plunges his blade into them watching their eyes go dark as they die.

Combat Aspects

I’ll cut a Bitch He prefers to kill his prey with his tribal short sword he had years of training with it as a child for the defense of his village but since his skills have been honed to be a proficient user of the weapon. If he doesn’t have the element of surprise he does struggle more with defeating a highly trained fighter.	Hunter in wait Relying on his years of hunting skills taught to him by his father and village elders XXX is deft at waiting long periods in ambush for his prey to enter his trap. He is able to employ all manner of simple weapons for his kills, from bladed, blunt and his his trusty bow there normally isn’t a trap he can’t set that will earn him a kill. His stealth abilities only have increased since leaving endor coupled with being able to not be noticed in a crowd he has become a master of the waiting game.
