

Headshot	Leq Cliegg  Senior Chief Petty Officer, Senior Enlisted, Odan-Urr JTF  Fire Control Chief, Odan-Urr Navy, Weapon Specialist  Lasat Male, Right-handed  Height: 2.12m, Weight: 136kgs	Saber
Physical Description		Preferred Weapons
Leg is just at average height for Lasat Males. His fur and skin are a rich brown color, closely resembling Caf with cream. His eyes are royal purple in color, standing in stark contrast to the color of his skin and facial hair. He has a scar running horizontally across his forehead from years of hitting his head on shipboard bulkheads. He is usually found in either his shipboard working uniform fatigues, or when the occasion requires, his dress uniform. He is rarely seen in civilian clothes and looks extremely uncomfortable when in them.		Shipboard turbo and anti-startfighter cannons. When not on ship, carries a DL-44 blaster.
General Aspects
Back in my day. Leq has been in the Navy forces for so long, he is an expert on most all shipboard weapon system. While he is still learning the capabilities of the newer capital ships coming off the lines, he knows that they are built around the systems he has worked with before.	Nothing like the smell of tibanna gas in the morning. Before his first pull of duty during the day Leq can often be found in the weapon department with his first cup of caf everyday. This has helped give his sailors a reason to perform their work to perfection, and gives him absolute trust that when the fight happens, the equipment will work to perfection.
Personality Aspects
Oh God, he's so salty. When asked a question Leg will give you an exact answer without any fluff or kindness. While this strikes many people he interacts with as him being an asshole, his superiors and many of his subordinates look at it like a sign of respect.	Dont touch my caf..... A Chief's caf cup is a sacred thing. Leq's has been with him through 3 wives and countless assignments. During this time, it was only washed once...that was by his second wife and he was divorced shortly afterwards.
Combat Aspects
You waited for him to shoot first? Leq has an un-nerving habit of making his subordinate Fire Controllers wait to begin firing on the enemy until he feels the moment is right. Even after an enemy ship has began to pepper his vessel with fire, Leq will wait until the ship is well within	We will continue to fire the ship. Cliegg has had several reprimands for continuing to fire on an enemy vessel even after being told to cease fire. This has been done several times after the Captain has ordered a retreat, with the aft range before ordering the open fire. This has left many enemies within range for all batteries to hit them without a loss of power.

batteries and magazines empty upon transition to Hyperspace.
