Background/History: Belsavis' Own are a team of highly specialized mercenaries. What sets them apart is their role as mechanics. Led by the Aleena Caton Gehr the crew is made up of several different species, a highly inclusive lot that are quick to defend one another and trade witty banter and scathing remarks. Seen as gruff by others and abrasive even at the best of times, their skill at fixing any vessel is known throughout the Collective. There is simply nothing they cannot fix, for the right price. Their desires are simple; money, women, and the pursuit of off-time pleasures.
