Background/History:

Bacta Squad is a highly skilled group of field medics. Though they are trained and deadly with blasters, their primary mission is to help and heal. The squad is generally deployed into the most dangerous and chaotic of situations to keep Collective losses to a minimum. They received their name for acting similarly to Bacta on a wound when they enter battle, healing the Collective and turning the tide (or reinforcing their victory).

Additional Information:

Bacta Squad is well known for stopping at nothing to save a patient.

Bacta Patch is the designation given to the newest recruits of Bacta Squad while they undergo training.
