Initial Members:

- Zyklon Epstein - Genetic Modifications specialist, became famous for being the first scientist to create a Bantha that when "milked" would produce silk proteins. Inspiration from real life Spider Goat experiment.
- Stubblebine Dame - Mind Control Specialist, proponent of psychic warfare. Believes that there are ways to control other people's minds that do not rely on the use of the Force.
- Ramon Gottfried - Cybernetics specialist, known for a collection of cybernetically enhanced pets, and bases many new designs on concepts from the animal kingdom
- Changde Hunan - Germ warfare specialist, Josef's right hand man. Rumoured to have infected himself with a venereal disease to study the long term effects first hand.

Background/History:

The modifiers are a collection of the extremists in the Technocratic Guild. Aligned with the guild's visions of personal enhancement, the group lead to much of the guild's early tech and this gave them a privileged status. Removing themselves from the frontline developments, letting others stand upon the shoulder of their work, the group then began to focus on more controversial concepts that they otherwise wouldn't have been able to in their previous lives. While their experiments on the living, intentional infections, and their active use of prisoners of war as test subjects; often makes other members of the Collective uncomfortable. The group often finds themselves on the cutting edge of scientific discovery - with special rewards to the Collective's war effort.
