Notes/Extra

Horval Jume is fixer of Collective troopers, not just flesh and bone but their cybernetic enhancements as well. Although technically part of the Rath's Guard, Jume uses her electronics expertise to also care for the highly modified troops within the Technocrats as well. The ability, and willingness, to save the lives of Collective soldiers across all three pillars has made Jume very popular among the rank and file even if her empathy frequently get's her in trouble with higher level commanders that wish for her to sacrifice some of the "lesser" soldiers.
