

Complaint # 1

Accuser: Seer Mauro Wynter

Accused: Vanguard Maximus Alvinus

Summary: During a celebration post Battle of Nancora the accuser and the accused both became heavily intoxicated. The accused became belligerent and made jokes about the accused being shot down and requiring help from fighting a team of women. When the accuser did not laugh the joke off, the accused cracked a bottle over the accuser's head.

Resolution: No findings of fault. Whereas the joke was off-color, and the physical altercation that followed was not entirely authorized behavior, it did not fall within the range of offensive or worthy of a formal reprimand.