

Master-at-Arms? Hardly. More like the Master-of-Waste. You see him pacing to and fro. That is how he always wants you to see him, so he may say that he is busy. Is he? Nay. Back and forth he paces for appearances, when all the things that you need approved just come across just being auto-stamped. It's not even auto-approve! There's a fifty-percent chance you get denied, regardless of what it is for. What a scam! Why should you let this guy fill an administrative position such as this? He does not deserve it, nor does he even really fill it. Do you truly think he does you justice? He may if you're lucky, but just don't risk it. If this was your life on the line, would you want to keep him? I would not, and I suggest that you do not either. Poor choices in leadership lead to poor results in your life. It may not be the end of your life, but it could impact the quality of it. Don't be the one getting the short end of the stick. Stray from your dim future with such a Master-at-Arms. Brighten your days with a better quality of life choice, and an easy decision. There will never be a better time to see how good it is on the other side. You want to see true administrative work that will benefit you and everything you strive for? Take a peek. Come over to The Collective, and we will show you how a good organization works with its members instead of against them. You have nothing to lose, but everything to gain. Let us protect you from the nonsense you have to deal with now.
