

Hello, this is Howie.

Howie is the great Panda Master at Arms of the Dark Brotherhood.

What does Howie do you might ask?

He sits stationary at his desk for hours and hours, lazily handing off his work to his subordinates.

He takes multiple bamboo breaks throughout the day, at least one every hour.

His job is to stamp request forms and determine the eligibility of Brotherhood members to be awarded or promoted. Sounds easy right? Even a child could do it!

Why is he allowed to be so lazy? Howie has been around for a long, long, long, long, long, long.....long, long time. So long in fact he's been called one of the Brotherhood's "Old Men".

His prestige is so "great", that he's allowed to shirk responsibility and lay around sleeping all day.

This is what the Brotherhood calls an important use of time and precious resources.

Can we allow ourselves to be controlled by this Black and White coated bear-man?

Don't let yourself be a Howie.

Be better than a Howie.

Join the Collective today, and you will never be considered...a Howie!

This has been an important message brought to you in part by the Collective. Follow us to the bright side of the galaxy and together we will make sure that no one else has a chance to become a Howie.

Howie does not approve of this message. Too bad for him that Rath Oligard does. Paid for by the Alliance for Panda Destruction, or the APD. Join us today!!!