Hory Taana

Elder Director
 Togruta Male, Right Handed
 Height: 1.8 m / 5'11", Weight: 75 kgs / 165 lbs

Physical Description

From years of political debates and bureaucracy, he is showing advanced signs of aging. His goldish skin had dulled from burnt yellow and the red markings on his body have turned more maroon. His brown eyes pierce your soul as he prepares his counterargument. He dresses more as a lesser noble with plain garments having less frills and ornaments than his upper class political rivals. He maintains a healthy diet when he can but often times goes without eating when he's focused on a task, leading to him being slightly underweight and skinny in appearance for his age of 64 years.

Loadout Weapons

* BlasTech A180 pistol

General Aspects

Studious

He spends much of his spare time reading and learning as much as he can about a particular subject. This allows him not to be caught off-guard in any debate and he will not go into one without knowing both sides.

Master Debater

As a young boy he loved watching political debates. He has practiced debating to the point where he can can and often times does, playfully debate his peers even taking sides on topics he doesn't agree with. This both keeps his skills sharp as well as gives him a slight sense of dominance.

Personality Aspects

The Life of the Party

Hory is very popular amongst this friends and allies. Always seen with a smile he prefers deep connections than superficial ones. This allows him to better understand those he is either working with or needs to accomplish a goal.

Shrewd

He is very good at what he does. Whether it's creating complex plans for economic prosperity or making a sandwich, everything is thought out fully and he sees plans through to the end. This also makes him very hard headed seeing no other ideas as good as his own, when many usually aren't. Counter arguments are usually met with strong opposition.

Combat Aspects
Fight or Flight While in his youth he was a more physical fighter, because of his age, he often prefers to talk his way out of confrontation or leave entirely. When this fails however, he isn't afraid to stand his ground.	Concealed Carry He always carries his blaster, but many are unaware he has one. Having it mainly for emergencies, its rarely used. Though when he needs it, he is always very accurate.
