

Headshot/Image	Faurian Caplure Commander, Director Human Male, Right handed Height:6' 0" , Weight: 192lb
Physical Description A man of just above average height, Faurian Caplure carries himself with a certain confidence. He always keeps his black hair neatly trimmed, and is so careful to conceal the greying patches that he is frequently complimented on how well he has aged. His dark brown eyes are constantly on the move, checking out everyone and everything in the room at once.		Loadout Weapons None
General Aspects
Anything You Can Do, I Can Do Better Faurian is extremely competitive and strives to become the best at every task he is given. The benefit of this cutthroat approach to life and work is that he will always give 100%, pushing himself to his physical or mental limits to overcome any task. However, Caplure's overzealous ambition makes her insufferable to all but the most patient of companions, making it difficult to make friends while he either proves successful or utterly fails at being the best.		Problem Solver Caplure looks at any problem he comes across and instead of immediately complaining about it sets out to figuring out a solution. He will work tirelessly to find workarounds or a solution, but can often overthink the resolution and come up with a "fix" that is actually more complex than needed. This driven approach to fixing problems can be helpful at times but grating at others when a simple "restart" would have accomplished the task quicker than re-programming the entire device.
Personality Aspects
My real home is long gone.. Although he has been living among the worlds of the Severian Principate for most of his adult life, Faurian actually hails from Alderaan. Whilst most Alderaanian survivors directly blamed the Empire for what happened, Faurian took what he considered a more pragmatic approach and blamed Governor Tarkin himself.  Not being from one of the Principate's own planets occasionally works against Faurian, who is often called an 'outsider' or accused of being a Republic agent. However, seeing what happened to his homeworld has left Caplure with a determination to make sure that the Principate never builds anything like the Death Star.		I Came From Nothing... Faurian was just a poor boy from a poor family. However, it was clear from an early age that he was never going to settle for second best. He started his first business at age 16, and was already a multi-millionaire by 21. Faurian never forgot his roots, though, and has been known to donate millions of credits to various charitable organisations - with his net worth now estimated at several billion credits, he can afford to,  Faurian's self made status makes him popular among lower classes in Principate society, but he is less liked among 'old money' types, who would prefer to keep the wealth among themselves.
Combat Aspects

Perhaps We Can Talk?

Faurian hates conflict. He will do his best at all times to avoid any fighting himself, and he also uses his influence as a member of the Triumvirate to stop the Principate from dragging itself into any kind of war or battle. He would even prefer to disband the Principate's armed forces, if given the chance.

The hatred of conflict is often mistaken for weakness, but Faurian is simply a determined pacifist.

Dead Sprint

When Faurian gets in trouble, he finds no fault in bravely turning tail and getting the hell out of dodge. Obviously, this means that he tends to survive even the most deadly encounters... but the same can't always be said for his compatriots. This fact hasn't exactly made him the most popular among his peers, but hey, at least Caplure isn't dead yet.
