

Name: Harvey Daley

Species: Human

Age: 63

Height: 1.95m

Weight: 97 Kgs

Physical Description: An imposing figure, Harvey Daley is tall and lean. He always appears in the finest suits and his hair is impeccable. His blue eyes and brown hair seem contradictory but make him strikingly handsome. He has high cheekbones and two small freckles above his left eye. He seems to always have a slight smirk.

Path: Grey

Order: Mercenary

Rank: Eminent

Discipline: Director

Skills:

- +5 - Diplomacy, Intellect, Manipulation
- +4 - Resolve, Leadership, Linguistics
- +3 - Subterfuge, Perception, Lore
- +2 - Tactics, Intimidation, Investigation
- +1 - Athletics, Slicing, Blasters, Creature Handling, Interrogation

Feats:

Your Reputation Precedes You
Go Ahead, Make My Day
Ivory Tower
Disarming Smile
War Hero
I See What You Did There
Sociopath
Pistol-Cuffs
The System, Is Down
You Can't Stop The Signal

Languages: Basic, Huttese, Sullustese, High Galactic, Duresse

Lore: Galactic Financial Law, Severin Principate History, Galactic Corporate Law

Aspects:

General: Anything You Can Do, I Can Do Better; Due Diligence

Personality: All Who Gain Power; Gentleman At Heart

Combat: Combat Slicer; Go Go Gadget

Lore:

Harvey Daley was born into privilege in the Severin Principate to Jonathan Daley and Larissa Everton Daley. Jonathan was a financial broker and encouraged Harvey to follow along in his footsteps, something Harvey took with a grain of salt. He attended University on Kuat, studying Business and got his Law degree, which he took back to the Principate and became an Associate at Turing Everton Herth, his maternal grandfather's firm.

His work in Corporate and Financial Law eventually turned the eyes of the politicians and by the time he was 42 he was nominated and named a judge by Parliament. He tended to rule in favour of whatever lawyer presented him with more interesting argument, leading to a lot of bending of existing laws. When his name was being circled around for the Supreme Court, Royus Turing, the Triumvirate leader representing Intergalactic Diplomacy saw an opportunity to keep his office in familiar hands. He retired, pending the nomination of Harvey Daley. Harvey was appointed to the Triumvirate with very little resistance.

Publicly, he is a calm, respectful leader who leaves policy decisions to the Senate and Parliament. Privately, he is a firebrand who writes the real policy and burns anything that he feels will send the Principate down the wrong path.