

Cadre Name: Revenants of the Principium

Cadre Type: Special Forces of the Principate

Leader:

- Renast Emb'yur (Male Sakiyan) - High Revenant of the Special Forces

Members:

- Xera Knoxx (Female Zabrak) - Leader of the Revenant Wings
- Massero Kus (Male Kaleesh) - Leader of the Revenant Blades
- Grozzurra (Female Wookie) - Leader of the Revenant Guards

Background/History:

Any organizational structure spanning multiple galactic systems will always require a military force to ensure the protection of their area of control, and to present of showing of strength for their enemies. Created by the original Triumvirate due to the need for an elite of the elite unit, these Revenants are the highest trained and deadliest soldiers with a sole focus on completing their missions no matter what. While all who reside as citizens of the Principate are required to serve a brief military service, scouts for the Revenants will observe and quietly select and procure those they feel are of the highest quality for specialized and brutal training to join the ranks of this elite unit.

Additional Information:

It is said that only 1 of 10 chosen are able to prove themselves worthy of this sacrifice, the rest either have their minds wiped or die trying. Those who survive are erased from the society. They are ghosts. Any records of their life before are destroyed. Once they are accepted, they are in for life, only released from service in death. They are implanted with an explosive implant that can be activated by the Revenant when death is all but certain, activated upon death once it reads heart failure, or remotely activated in the off chance that the Revenant attempts to go rogue.
