

Spoiled Pet: [Pet] has become accustomed to a certain level of love and attention, and can become quite irate if [he/she] does not receive it. When [Pet] is suitably attended to, [he/she] is quite well behaved. However, if [Pet] has not received a sufficient amount of attention, it may attempt to seek in during inopportune times, such as during important diplomatic negotiations, battle, or even during romantic interludes.

Zero-G Trained: [Pet] has been trained to move sufficiently in low gravity environments, and can move around the room with ease. This carries the added benefit of [Pet] understanding that a low gravity environment is not an appropriate place to mark one's territory.