Dearest Maryn,

I write to you with a heavy heart, knowing I have missed the day of your birth and the celebrations of selfsame. Your latest care package arrived and Lt.[REDACTED] kindly requests you send the next pair of socks one size larger. We're still out here, whenever, wherever, we're meant to be together; me and the boys. But I promise I remain unsullied, so that we may finally consummate our marriage. Please be more gentle than these Navy-issue boots.

Yours,
Pvt.Ksulko
