

War Were Declared

Dear Nefilee,

The Collective has certainly made things difficult. However, they made the mistake of going up against the Brotherhood and the Force, so they are doomed to fall. While I was eager to prove myself once given command of a vessel in the Ascendant Fleet, it is quite trying to be away from the comforts of home for so long. I can only hope that the Collective chooses to roll over and die quickly so that I can step away from this plain, boring starship and return to a comfortable chair.

-Dark Knight Khryso Mallus