

Telaris "Mav" Cantor

Grand Master

Sith, Seeker

Male Human, Right Handed

Height: 1.9 m / 6'3" - Weight: 90.0 kg / 198 lbs

Physical Description

Despite lacking any of the particularly striking features that set apart the people of his Hapan homeworld, Telaris still possesses a certain symmetry and refinement that makes him easier on the eye than the average human. Only the faintest hint of age touches his dusky brown hair, though his dark eyes tell a different tale. The defined line of a strong jaw, oddly flawless, clear skin and a practiced aristocratic lilt at his tongue pair well with the poise with which he carries his trim, tall form.

Loadout Equipment / Weapons

- * Golden Lightsaber
- * Ruby Sceptre (why not?)
- * Inquisitorius Stiletto

General AspectsFear Leads to the Dark Side

Telaris fears that his own passion may one day consume him. Having seen fellow Sith and Brotherhood leaders driven to madness, Telaris has sought to find a way to bring peace to his own rage and bitterness over the family that orphaned him. While he now maintains a remarkable sense of control over the powers of the Dark Side, many view his methods as a sign of weakness to be exploited.

Sith Code Revisionist

Telaris spent his youth as the maverick that couldn't follow orders. Now that he makes the rules, he's settled on a philosophical rebellion against the mainstream understanding of the Sith Code. Rather than abandon the way of the Sith when he sought to bring some balance to his volatile soul, Telaris has determined that compassion has a place in the Sith Code as an extension of passion. #changehismind

Personality AspectsMaster of the Long Game

Telaris has observed the pitfalls of ill-conceived ambition and learned the art of the long game. He won't waste his energy with power plays or subterfuge, but he will be there to step over the bodies when his enemies have destroyed one another on their way to the throne.

Help Me Help You

Telaris has learned that motivating people through fear is far less effective than manipulating their innate drives and ambitions. Born more from observing people and their patterns as a means of survival than from any true empathy, Telaris has a keen ability to quickly identify what people want and how to use it to his own advantage.

Combat AspectsEnergy Efficient

Telaris rarely elects to engage in physical combat, and he will always strive to make the most efficient use of his considerable energy reserves when he does. He will often wear his enemies down with tricks of the mind and senses before ever drawing a weapon, but steel-willed and similarly patient combatants may prove more of a challenge.

Mav the Merciful

Telaris rarely strikes a killing blow. Be it a byproduct of his liberal view of the Sith Code or a mere question of the combatant's utility to the Grandmaster's schemes, Telaris is more likely to incapacitate his opponent than end him. Of course, we all know what happens when you don't go for the head.

Additional Information

Skills
Sovereign (+6)	Diplomacy, Manipulation
Master (+5)	Intellect, Investigation, Subterfuge
Adept (+4)	Primary Martial Arts Form, Primary Lightsaber Form, Resolve
Proficient (+3)	Bladed Weapons, Blasters, Survival, Perception
Trained (+2)	Pilot (S), Stamina, Leadership, Empathy
Learned (+1)	Athletics, Medicine, Might, Lore, Linguistics, Astrogation, Dual Wielding

Force Powers
Sovereign (+6)	Illusion, Mind Trick
Master (+5)	Suppression, Battle Meditation, Farsight
Adept (+4)	Telekinesis, Precognition, Telepathy
Proficient (+3)	Force Lightning, Amplification, Force Cloak, Control Self
Trained (+2)	Sense, Concealment, Slow, Blinding, Barrier
Learned (+1)	Terror, Rage, Healing, Blackness, Creature Control

Feats
Skill Feats	Force Feats
Familiar Steel Classic Misdirection	Dominate Mind Alter Image Moving the Masses Nullify Telekinetic Combat Mastery Tempest Stay A While And Listen
General Feats

