

War Were Declared.

To my loving wife Teresa,

It's been too long since I've been home. A year is it? At the moment we are all sat waiting for the call, twiddling our fingers playing hopeless games of Saabac. I always win. Naturally. War is coming and our enemies are blowing raspberries. I lost my Lightsaber... Do you know where I might put it? I'm seriously screwed.

Your loving Husband,

Appius.
