

==== Tittilating Twi'lek ====

Located within the bustling Besadii District, the Tittilating Twi'lek lives up to its name. A glowing front of holographic lights set over one-way tinted windows, allowing those within to see out while providing a modicum of privacy for those within, advertises the location. The display flickers through a curved font of the establishment's name, shifting across a range of colors from green, blue, orange, red, brown, purple, and such. That these are all well-known shades of skin for Twi'leks becomes quickly apparent upon entry to the club.

The entryway is a short hall leading into a broader space filled with booths built into low cubicles. These are just tall enough that those sitting within, unless abnormally tall, cannot see their fellow patrons who are seated but gives a fairly clear view of the staff. This allows the staff to both advertise and be quickly waved down for orders. The staff itself is almost entirely made up of Twi'leks or other lekku sporting species, dressed in a uniform that includes sandals with footwraps, sarong like skirts, and depending on male or female, a tight, wrapped top. Moving among the club are also managers, dressed smartly in well-cut suits.

The decor is warm and reminiscent of Ryloth, mosaics covering the walls in browns and oranges, sand dunes, and rocky outcroppings. As perhaps a consideration to the staff, or simply to make it feel more authentic, the climate control is set to slightly warmer than the general Ol'val temperature as well.

Among the regular services offered of food and beverage, the Tittilating Twi'lek offers a new experience to the Shadowport. One might notice that the club has a large staff on hand, and this is because once preference has been made clear to a manager, one of the waitstaff will promptly bring you your first order and then sit with you. The Tittilating Twi'lek is considered a 'host' establishment, the staff providing conversation and companionship — to a point. The managers refresh beverages and provide support to the waitstaff, as well as keeping things under control. Some complaints have been made by one time patrons believing the club offered 'other' services, only to be sent away after spending exorbitant amounts of credits.
