

The Sith artifact is the Dathomir Talisman. It is a silver pendant which is found in a wooden carved box where on the inside there is a spell for opening a talisman.

The pendant is 25 centimeters large, 3 centimeters wide and can be opened. It is depicted in the shape of a teardrop. Black ornaments are engraved on it and the interiors of the ornaments are inlaid with red stones.

There are already signs of wear on it. On the underside that was exposed to the skin already talisman black. The talisman has an opening drop at the tip. After using the spell, the talisman opens.

Form of poem CLERIHEW

Into the darkness your path leads,
do what you the most needs,
reach out and take that power,
with Dark Force you will become a leader.

Join to the darkness,
there are always two and nothing more or less,
eyes and blade equally red,
darkness entangles your head.

Darkness is your destiny,
darkness is your eternity,
your way will forever change,
everything is now in your range.

I'm at your service now,
but you never know when someone will let you down,
I always stand by your side,
it means to be Darkside.