

The Collective strikes...

Arx, the seat of the Dark Council of the Brotherhood is under attack.

The Grand Master, Telaris Cantor, has a vision of his new Sith Empire. His vision is threatened by the bravery of the Collective, yet they give him the chance to strike at them and snuff them out.

Their attack on Arx has allowed the Clans of the Brotherhood to get revenge on the Collective for the damage they have done to them across their respective domains.

Can they make it in time to save the Nesolat Platform from destruction?

Or will the machinations of the Technocratic Guild bear fruit and destroy the Brotherhood once and for all?

Only the members of the Brotherhood can decide...