

- Item name: Judgement-class Cruiser
- Item category: Cruiser
- Proposed shop: Arx Fleet Systems.
- Proposed rarity: Epic (Specialist ships/prototypes)
- Proposed cost: 80 000 000
- Item description:
- Based upon the readily available hulls of near-obsolete Victory-class Star Destroyers, the Judgement-class is a 900-meter long Cruiser that has been de-rated and upgraded to function as the starship equivalent to the Restoration Troopers. Hyperdrive capable, this vessel has average armor and shielding, but upgraded speed and maneuverability to allow it to better respond to Revenant attacks. Due to pressing needs to reduce crew complement, the Judgement-class utilizes more automated systems than traditional designs, making it more vulnerable to boarding.

The Judgement-class has had several of its heavier turbolaser cannons replaced with experimental long-range tractor beams and enhanced targeting and communications suites. This allows the Judgement-class to detain and contact Revenant ships up to corvette -size, and detail the full extent of their crimes aboard the target ship's internal comms—before executing the sentence, which is usually death.
