

Item name: Diplomat's Longbeam

Item category: Starship, specifically a Capital Ship

Proposed shop: Arx Fleet Systems

Proposed rarity: Rare (Blue)

Item description: The Diplomat's Longbeam is a heavy cruiser manufactured by the Severian Principate Harmonists faction, who put their own touches on the iconic Jedi craft of the Galactic Republic. The 1,000 length craft was primarily made to excel as a defensive deterrent and emphasizes speed for search and rescue missions. The tank of the fleet, this starship has exceptional shields and its hull is capable of absorbing huge amounts of damage before falling apart. Hyperdrive capable, this vessel has above average speed and mobility, with a top of the line hyperdrive capable of quick jumps. Unfortunately, it makes all its sacrifices in offense, where all of its weaponry is nonlethal or designed to end a fight peacefully should one break out. The Diplomat's Longbeam was once used by the Galactic Republic long ago and its design was appropriately modified to suit the needs of the Severian Principate.

Armament

48 heavy ion cannons

04 gravity well projectors

12 tractor beam projectors

Complement

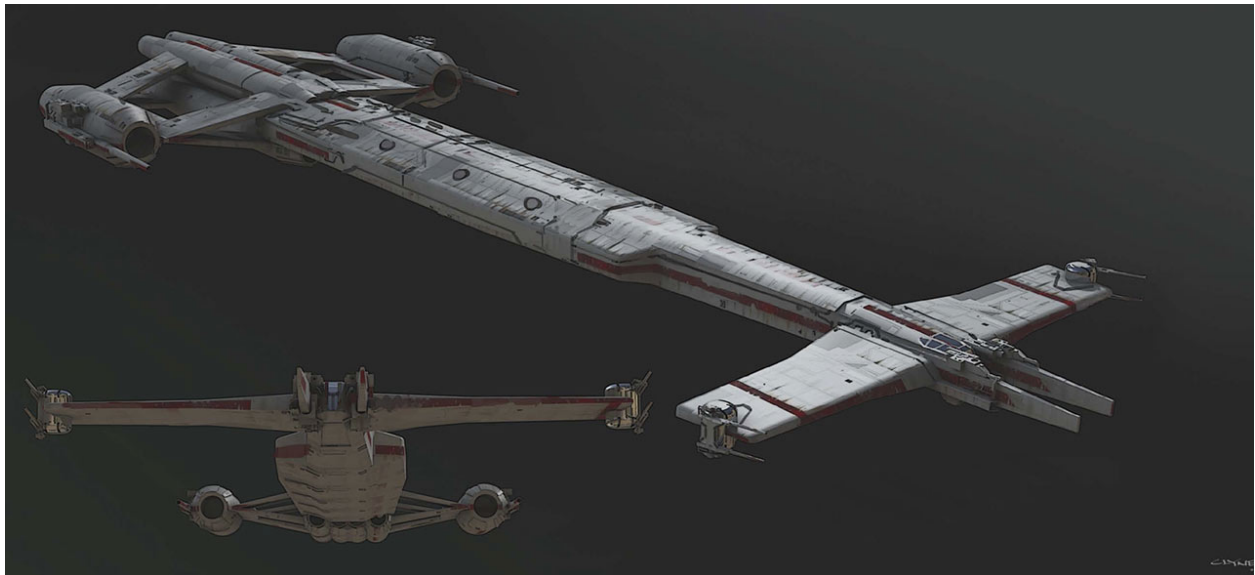

1000 crew for full effectiveness

1500 passengers

550,000 metric tons of storage space

5 squadrons of starfighters

Item image:

Img Src:

<https://www.starwars.com/news/inside-star-wars-the-high-republic-meet-the-ships-and-vehicles>