Type: Space Vehicle

Prototype: Onager-class Star Destroyer

The Obsidian-class Star Destroyer is a 2000-meter long Destroyer and superweapon-like capital ship designed by Rothana Heavy Engineering. It's cosmetic design looks much like its predecessor, the Onager-class Star Destroyer, except it is far larger and its increased armament is far superior. This capital ship was designed for long range pursuit and high damage output against its adversaries. The experimental hull design was created for maximum defensive cover and its redesigned shielding systems should last for drawn out encounters. Truly this machine was constructed for war, and holds no other purpose than the total destruction of an enemy fleet. This ship has been made primarily for use by the Severian Principate.
