

This song has been passed down from the generation of pirates to the next generation for centuries.

The song varies from band to band, with each band adjusting it to be intimidating, encouraging, and keeping the band together. They also differ thanks to the secret languages that some gangs use for safer and easier communication.

Pirates have it almost like an anthem because it makes them feel stronger, because they hum it before the event, during it and whenever the opportunity arises, so they sing it.

It is one of their rituals because they believe that the song has a special power before the event. They sing this song, but especially after a successful event, when they celebrate and rejoice in the magnifying glass and valuable booty.

To summarize all the data on pirated songs. They are songs to work, but at the same time they serve as motivation for cohesion. Composed for celebration and joy and a reminder of pirate joys and skills.

These songs also serve as a means of terror to rich people who struggle for their possessions. And thanks to these songs, the pirates maintain their bad to master reputation, which precedes them in the sound of these songs.

If you hear one of them, run away, if life is nice to you and you don't want to lose it unnecessarily, because these songs mean death.

Pirate's song

Yo ho, yo ho, I want my pirate life to live.
To scare someone with a knife.
To scare someone with the knife, yo ho.
I want to live my pirate life, yo ho.
I want to live my pirate life, you ho.
We kidnap and kill because we are bad
To be bad is my dream in bed, yo ho.
Yo ho, yo ho, I want my pirate life to live.
Yo ho, yo ho, I want my pirate life to live,
We love money, women and drinks
I will do many things with you, yo ho.
The heist and murders are my life.
Scare someone with the knife, yo ho.
Scare someone with the knife, yo ho.
Yo ho, yo ho, I want to live my pirate life.
Yo ho, yo ho, I want to live my pirate life,
scare someone with the knife,
scare someone with the knife, yo ho.
Because it means life, yo ho.
We burn ships, homes and dreams,
We love to hear screams, yo ho.
We are as real and dangerous as your life.

Scare someone with the knife, yo ho.
Scare someone with the knife, yo ho.
You will see us when you look to the sky
we scare you with the knife, yo ho.
Life are money and money are life,
Scare someone with the knife, yo ho.
Scare someone with the knife, yo ho.
So be careful before pirate life,
Scare someone with the knife, yo ho.
Yo ho, yo ho, I want to live my pirate life.
You ho, you ho, I want to live my pirate life.
