“Dominance is the child of patience. Take control of your opponent with care and fastidiousness... then destroy them in one blow.” - Page 34, “The Essential Stratagem of Naval Warfare”, Unknown Chiss Author

Forged out of the Tenixir Revenants’ desire to centralize under the fist of a formidable flagship, this 2,200 meter long Destroyer was designed to eradicate well-armored capital ships and perform catastrophic high-orbit surface bombardment. Jokingly anointed “Rasha’s Glass Cannon” by some officers, this vessel’s average maneuverability, low defenses, and poor armament of medium-sized ordnances are generously compensated for by its array of gravity wells, communication interdictors, and various other devices capable of disrupting naval coordination and organization, along with a custom-built CFP-218 Energy Matrix seated at the very center of the ship’s fissure. Some speculate the matrix to be capable of obliterating an ISD-II Star Destroyer’s shielding within a few minutes, and a sophisticated planetary defense system could be gone in half an hour.
