

Port Marvak is a coastal city sitting at the Southernmost point of Ussun. It is one of the world's major trade hubs, as its location makes it a prime area for shipping goods via the sea.

The city has warm summers and cold winters due to its Continental climate, though the ocean surrounding it does not freeze due to its fast-moving currents.

Many docks and ports line the shores of Port Marvak, and to the north, there are large forests that provide lumber to industries within the city. A reef to the southeast of the port is protected by local by-laws, and any ship caught crossing over the reef is subject to heavy fines and even possible jail time. The reef is a popular tourist destination, containing an abundance of rare flora and fauna that are found nowhere else in the universe.

Name: Port Marvak

Location: Southern Ussun

Size: Small City

Population: 170,000

Economic Wealth: Moderately Wealthy

Biggest employers: Marvak Transportation, MUIR (Marvak Underground Induction-Rail), Oceanlink Ferries, Port Marvak Freight & Logistics, Sleepwell Hotel.

Landmarks: Port Marvak Wildlife Preserve, The Great Reef.

Medical care: Average. Hospitals are able to perform most procedures, but patients requiring advanced procedures must be shipped elsewhere for treatment.

Crime: Moderate levels. Average for a population of its size.

Architecture: Primarily Selenian with many hints of other spacefaring cultures.

Climate: Continental

Predominant races: A mixed variety. Primary Selenians, but there are also large pockets of Humans, Twi'Lek, Duros, and Torgruta among others.

Major Exports: Fuel, consumer goods, fish, lumber.

Power holder: Mayor Ziinabar under the Ussun People's Party.