

Rectifier Assault Lander

Name: Rectifier Assault Lander

Length: 15 m

Width: 4.3 m

Crew: 1 pilot, 2 gunners

Armament: 1 Heavy Laser Cannon (port). 1 retractable multi-missile launcher (starboard)

Capacity: 60 troops, or 26.8 tons of cargo, or 20 crystal raptors

The Rectifier Assault Lander was developed to leverage crystal-based technological advancements in both propulsion and shield systems. With powerful engines and excellent shielding, the RAL can make atmospheric insertions at speeds that most other craft cannot match while also being able to weather concentrated ground fire during a drop mission. The vessel is armed with a heavy laser cannon mounted in a large turret on the port side of the ship as well as a retractable multi-missile launcher system opposite it on the starboard side. Much like the First Order AAL, the pilot operates the craft from a raised control position at the rear of the vessel, leaving the front area devoted to the cargo/troop compartment that is accessed via a ramp at the bow. The hull form of the drop ship has also been optimized for high speed, high angle atmospheric insertions.
