

Target Dossier – Warlord Malisane Sadow

Target Name – Malisane Sadow
Species – Human
Age – Approximately 50 Years
Affiliation – Clan Naga Sadow, Dark Brotherhood
Position – 2nd Tier Unit Leader
Designation – Force User
Status – Alive

Target History

The target is a human male force user, who is one of the longer standing members of his own Clan. Until 37 ABY this individual was believed to be missing and possibly deceased or had broken all ties with the enemy. However he returned in that year and was subsequently appointed leader of one of the second tier units in Clan Naga Sadow and Military Governor of Aeotheran, the Oriian System's most populous and valuable planet.

Physical Description

See attached image. The target is of slightly average height and build. He appears to have suffered intense damage and has serious physical scarring, notably on the left hand side of face and to a lesser extent across whole body. He is therefore reasonably easy to recognise and struggles to blend into a crowd unless masked or helmeted, which he usually is.

Psychological Description

Intelligence analysts regard the target as a loyalist to his faction, to the point of obsession, but something of a loner amongst his fellow members. He is believed to have serious trust issues and paranoid, which could be exploited. Though a unit leader he has a tendency to delegate command to his subordinate leaders and officers, who seem to either tolerate or fear him.

Observed Combat Style

The target appears to have a purely aggression based combat style, utilising both force attacks and conventional weaponry. They will initially attack using long range explosives, and then quickly close and attack the enemy, often without apparent regard for personal safety. The target will often launch themselves into groups of opponents, or at a single stronger one, initially using explosive or telekinetic attacks, using the initial shock to overwhelm opponents with an aggressive lightsaber assault. This appears to be highly effective against weaker closely packed opponents.

However it has been observed that the target will struggle against a single calmer and skilled opponent, if they can withstand the initial assault and counter attack exploiting weaknesses and gaps in the targets defence.

Conclusion

The target should be regarded as a priority for elimination. Though assessed as a mid range opponent, their position in the leadership of Clan Naga Sadow, and their status as a long serving member would help destabilize the enemy chain of command and provide a beneficial damage to the overall Clan's morale.