Description & Loadout

Physical Description

Din Djarin is a human male of average height and weight. His brown hair is short, but is often unkempt. His eyes are brown and he has no distinguishing marks.

General Aspects

This Is The Way

The character is a follower of the Way of the Mandalore. As a foundling turned full Mandalorian, the character follows the strictest tenants of the Mandalorian Code. This includes not showing their face, being trained in the use of many weapons, and a stoic nature.

We'll Break Their Legs

The character can be very protective, and when any of their friends are being bullied or threatened, they will step in to defend them. This can gets The character in trouble when they refuse to back down during these exchanges, and sometimes has trouble discerning between friendly teasing and intentional insults. However, because of this fierce loyalty, their friends know that no matter what, The character will be there for them.

Personality Aspects

Straight Shooter

The character tells it like they see it, when they think it; and they don't try to sugar coat what they say.

Lone Wolf

The character doesn't like to work in groups or teams and feels most comfortable on their own. The character sticks to themselves, sets their own pace, and doesn't share feelings or emotions with others. While the Lone Wolf can get things done quietly and efficiently, they tend to be emotionally cut off and has problems relating to their comrades.

Combat Aspects

I Can Bring You In Warm, Or I Can Bring You In Cold

Gunslinger

The character would prefer not to kill people; but has no problem ending a life if it is required. This character prefers to seek cooperation first, but will get the job done by any means necessary.

The character is skilled with many weapons, but none more so than the trusty blaster pistol on their hip. They can and will draw and use that trusty blaster in an instant.
