Physical Description

Rey Skywalker is a slim woman of fair complexion. She has Hazel eyes, which always look like she's a half a second away from crying. Her hair is brown and is worn up in a tight bun. She has no other distinguishing marks.

General Aspects

Blind Optimist

Every legendary story seems to have at least one charming and optimistic character. If that's the case, then it only makes sense that Imaginary F(r)iend has decided to be that person. After all, if everyone is too busy whining and groaning about the negatives, how will anyone ever reach the positive? True, Imaginary F(r)iend's constant belief that things will get better can be terribly grating, especially to pessimists or those just level-headed enough to realize when things truly are going downhill, but Imaginary F(r)iend's constant positive outlook can serve to sometimes spur others to action when it feels like the world just wants them to lay down and die.

Former Slave

Imaginary F(r)iend grew up never knowing their family. They were sold into slavery very young, and was put to work almost immediately. However, due to their age, Imaginary F(r)iend bounced from owner to owner until they became a teenager. Having to endure horrible treatment during this time in their life, Imaginary F(r)iend has lingering trust issues while carrying an absolute hatred toward slavers. If confronted with acts of slavery, they will most likely lash out in some way, regardless of it compromises their objective.

Personality Aspects

Don't call me Small

Imaginary F(r)iend is known for walking tall despite being of below average stature. they are quick to anger when called out for their height, and is not afraid of taking on an opponent regardless of their size or intimidation factor. This same tenacity makes Imaginary F(r)iend easier to rile up, which can

I Am Selfless

The Jedi are selfless, caring only about others. Imaginary F(r)iend is compassionate, brave and always strives to represent the common good. They try to help everyone they can, even at their own expense, and is a fine role model for others to follow.

be a good or bad thing depending on the situation at hand

Combat Aspects

Hokey Religions and Ancient Weapons

Imaginary F(r)iend may wear a lightsaber at their waist, but they always go for their trusty blaster instead, preferring to shoot it out from range rather than trying to get in up-close and personal. Only as a last resort will they go for their lightsaber.

Adaptive Combat

Without the gift of the Force, Imaginary F(r)iend has trained rigorously with a wide range of melee weaponry and technology to better handle opponents that are able to harness the mythical power. Imaginary F(r)iend has been conditioned to fight against foes that are Force-sensitive and are able to compensate against fighting an adversary wielding something as deadly as a lightsaber. While this adaptive combat training makes them lethal in close quarters combat against any kind of threat, they are still at the mercy of a long ranged fighter, assailant or Force user that prefers to attack the mind instead of the body.
