Justification: This weapon is unique, not only fitting of the Celebration Store but also the club at large. Not only is it from a fan-favorite movie, but it is also just downright cool! It may seem that it has too much going for it with all of its forms, but as opposed to the DC-17m, the user must add and remove attachments to achieve this form, causing the user to not only carry more kit but also take the time to modify the weapon itself.
