

1. You & Me — Marshmello

Upbeat and catchy, the hook and lyrics in general are simple. That's what makes it work well.

*And baby just don't please don't go without me/
I'm tired of doing it on my own/
And now I'm stuck here stuck here/
Thinking about what it could be/
You and me...*

Wyn was never one for relationships. Serious ones, at least. Anyone he got close to inevitably left him. But there was always optimism, and he did find his "someone" it seems.

2. Leave Before You Love Me — Marshemello & Jonas Brothers

Every playlist needs more of a slow-jam so the dancing can get a bit more intimate, ya know? This song is another uplifting bop, but the lyrics do hide a warning to getting too close to Wyn.

*Dancing on the edge, 'bout to take it too far/
It's messing with my head, how I mess with your heart/
If you wake up in your bed, alone in the dark/
I'm sorry, gotta leave before you love me/*

Socorra seemed to break past that barrier though.

3. Bad Habits - Ed Sheeran

Continuing on the certified bangers, the prophet Ed Sheeran has a way of using his angelic, subtly ~~british~~ Imperial voice to make what seem like poetic/nice sounding lyrics have deeper, darker meanings.

Wyn was not in a good place for a while. He hid behind his demeanor and eccentric nature, but he did feel very alone. So this song hit pretty hard despite it's upbeat nature.

*My bad habits lead to late nights endin' alone
Conversations with a stranger I barely know
Swearin' this will be the last, but it probably won't*

I got nothin' left to lose, or use, or do

4. STAY - No Resolve (Cover)

*I do the same thing, I told you that I never would /
I told you I changed, even when I knew I never could /
I know that I can't find nobody else as good as you /
I need you to stay, need you to stay, hey /*

Once you find something special, you never want to let it go. But things don't happen like they do in story books. Nothing is easy. So, changing an entire mindset and breaking down your own barriers is tough. You also want them to stay with you despite your failings. If that's not love, well, then Wyn isn't really sure what is.

I'll be fucked up if you can't be right here..

Moving on...

5. Blinding Lights - First to Eleven (Cover)

*I've been tryna call
I've been on my own for long enough
Maybe you can show me how to love, maybe
I'm going through withdrawals
You don't even have to do too much
You can turn me on with just a touch, baby*

As mentioned, Wyn's lifestyle was always on the go. No true commitments or attachments, just fluid flexibility. While he would never be considered an alcoholic, he had his other vices, and this song is all about fighting through your issues to be with the people or person you want to be with. It's always resounded with me IRL, so I think Wyn would appreciate The Weekend's lyrical masterwork here, as sung by the lovely First to Eleven.

6. Dear Theodosia - Hamilton Mix Tape (Bonus)

Because he just became a father, what other song did you think would be on the damn playlist?